CAN A CHRISTIAN GO TO HEAVEN?

The Reply of the Jew.

A Sermon Preached by the Rev. Rabbi Tuska, at the Synagogue, Saturday, 12th.

Rabbi Tuska, on Saturday, 12th inst., addressed the congregation B'nai Israel on the question, "Can a Christian go to Heaven?" as viewed from a Jewish standpoint. This novel subject for a discourse he handled in a manner that we are sure will interest most of our readers, and we propose to give them an outline of his remarks.

Choosing his text from the Lesson of the Day, Deuteronomy, 29th, last verse:

"The secret things belong unto the Lord our God; but the things which are revealed belong to us and to our children forever, to do all the words of this law."

The speaker said that he had used this text on several occasions, it being particularly appropriate for moral reflection on the Sabbath immediately preceding the New Year; but would now use it in reference to a rather novel theme, suggested by a discourse recently published on the question, "Can a Jew go to Heaven?" In that sermon, the preacher refuted the theory of those who maintain that the Jews, as well as the heathens, not believing in the peculiar doctrines of Christianity, cannot be saved, but are doomed to a region the very reverse of Heaven.

He proposed now, by way of contrast, to show what the Jewish religion teaches respecting the fate of those who do not believe in the peculiar doctrines of Judaism.

What is, and must be the reply of the Jew to the query: Can a Christian go to Heaven? It is invariably and unequivocally, "Yes!" Yes, a Christian, as well as the votary of any other creed, may, according to our religion, inherit eternal bliss, even though he do not believe a word of any of the doctrines, nor practice any of the rites and ceremonies, peculiar to Judaism.

He said that he would, first of all, prove this from the nature of Judaism itself, and then verify the same by the testimony of the Jewish teachers and authorities, from the time of the Talmud down to the present day.

"The secret things belong unto the Lord our God." Judaism teaches no mysteries. It does not require man to believe in doctrines contrary to our convictions. It does not wish to do violence to our reason by subjecting it blindly and implicitly to faith. Go through the Hebrew Scriptures, from Genesis to Malachi, and you will not find anywhere a law enjoining or enforcing belief. The fact is, the Hebrew language, as preserved in Holy Writ, has not even a word expressing the idea commonly conveyed by the word "Faith," or "Belief," as used in the Christian creed. Hence, we nowhere find the phrase "Thou shalt believe in God." But we do find the injunction "thou shalt know the Lord," etc. The Israelite is required to use his reason, that he may know and comprehend what is right and true. He is not bound to receive a creed on trust. Knowledge, not faith, is demanded of the true Israelite. If there be any mysteries in this world, which the mind of man cannot comprehend, they are not taught in Israel's creed. "The secret things belong unto the Lord." They do not concern us. We may dispense with them. What concerns us is plainly revealed unto us; it is: "To do all the words of this law." That belongs to us and to our children forever. Hence, Judaism teaches no dogmas on the belief of which our salvation depends. You will search in vain in our Bible for any such passage as "He that believeth shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be condemned." According to our religion, a man's conduct here on earth will determine the character of his future destiny. It teaches that eternal happiness will be the reward of all who do what is right and just to the best of their knowledge, without regard to the particular creed which they confess. Judaism, in this respect, is truly liberal and rational.

The speaker then referred to the teachings of the Jewish Fathers, as well as to later authorities, by whom this liberal spirit of Judaism is fully substantiated.

He began with the oldest—the authorities of the Talmud. The ancient Talmudists, with all their faults and shortcomings, with all their absurdities and peculiarities, never harbored that selfish, narrow-minded spirit which excludes the pious and upright from the realms of happiness, for no other fault than that of not believing in the principles of Judaism. The following passages may serve as specimens of their liberality in this respect:

"God is merciful to those who are not decidedly good or bad. The really wicked alone—both Jewish and heathen—who desecrated the holy law, by lewdness and other crimes, are punished in hell twelve months, after which their souls are annihilated. On the day of judgment, when the dead shall rise, all others, like the pious, will inherit life eternal."—(Rosh hashan, 17.)

Again: "God will not withhold his reward from any of his creatures."—(Bal. Kama, 38.)*

Again: Rabbi Josua, basing his view on pp. 9, 18, maintained that only the wicked among the Gentiles will be condemned to perdition, but that "the righteous among them will participate in the bliss of the future world."—(Sanhedr. 92 and 105).

Similar sentiments were expressed by the learned Rabbis in the middle ages. He quoted one from every century, beginning with the eleventh century.

The celebrated author of the philosophical work, Kusari, R. Jehuda Halevid, says: "We deny no man's right to be rewarded for his virtuous deeds, no matter to what nation he may belong. There is but this distinction, namely, that those who in this life walked most closely with God, will enjoy a more perfect bliss in the future."—Kusari, 1, 1 iii.

R. Lipman, of the fourteenth century, says that the word of the Psalmist, "Let all flesh bless His holy name," (pp. 145 fin.) imply the doctrine that all the pious, even though they are not Israelites, will enjoy the bliss of futurity.

Such, too, was the opinion of orthodox Rabbis and Cabbalists of the 15th and 16th centuries. One of these, Solomon Uphusen, expressly declares that the upright of all nations, particularly the pious Christians, are not condemned, but obtain eternal life.

The celebrated Maimonides (12th century) maintains that immortal happiness is acquired by knowledge and morality, and that consequently all the righteous of whatever creed, are rewarded with a happy life.

So, too, in the following century (17th) the illustrious champion of Israel, Menasseben Israel, who takes it for granted that only a part of the Israelites will be raised from the dead, expressly states that all others who believe in God and lead a pious life, though not of the Jewish persuasion, will be raised to everlasting bliss.

About the beginning of the last century a learned Rabbi, in response to the question of a princess, whether he thought that Christians could go to Heaven, remarked: "God would be cruel indeed, if it should doom to perdition those whom He had never commanded to observe the Jewish laws."

And so, towards the close of the last century, the pious philosopher, the renowned Moses Mendelssohn, in his work on Toleration, declared that according to the principles of Judaism, all the inhabitants of the earth are destined to be saved. (Jerusalem, p. 110.)

In regard to the views of all enlightened Israelites of the present century, it is superfluous to say that they entertain none but the most liberal sentiments on this subject, making salvation independent of any and every creed.

Thus the testimony of the Rabbis, dating as far back as the origin of Christianity, corroborates that principle of our religion, that salvation does not depend on the belief of any particular dogma, and hence the Jew may well be liberal, in the broadest sense of the word, in his answer to the question: "Can a Christian go to Heaven?"

We admit, indeed, that here and there passages may be found in the works of the Rabbis, particularly in the Middle Ages, which do not breathe this liberal spirit. But these, on a careful investigation, will be found to have been the utterances of passion and not of reason, in times when the Israelite was exasperated by the thousand misfortunes and persecutions which he suffered at the hands of his Christian neighbors. No wonder that the Jew excluded from his future Paradise those whose conduct was anything but just and righteous. If on such occasions the Hebrew condemned the creed of his Christian neighbors, it was because he believed that the wrongs he suffered at their hands were in harmony with the teachings of Christianity. He judged of the tree by its fruit. Yet even then, when the persecutions they had to endure would in some measure excuse any expressions of narrow-minded bigotry and deep resentment, the doctrine was never broached that the persecutors were excluded from salvation on the ground of their differing in faith from the votaries of Judaism. One Rabbi in the 15th century, the learned and zealous Isaac Arama even took particular pains to guard against the erroneous notion that the Israelites were to be saved simply because they were Israelites by persuasion. He does this in explaining a passage of the Talmud, which reads: "All Israelites shall partake of the bliss of Heaven." It would be an act of injustice, says he, against all other human beings, were we to infer from this that the mere fact of being an Israelite was sufficient to entitle one to future happiness. Israel, he continues, is but a synonym for righteous; every pious man is an Israelite, and therefore the phrase, a "son of Israel" is equivalent to "a son of the future state." (Akeda, part 60.)

Yes, with this Rabbi, who wrote these liberal sentiments about the time that the most catholic Ferdinand and Isabella banished all their co-religionists from Spain, —with him we heartily exclaim: Every righteous man is an Israelite indeed, and if any Israelite in faith will go to heaven, it will not be because of his belief, but solely and entirely because of his conduct.

The reverend gentleman closed with the exhortation to his hearers not to be concerned about the particular opinions of this or that man, within or without the pale of Judaism, respecting matters of faith. "The secret things belong unto the Lord our God." Look to his conduct! Behold! the line of action is fully revealed to us and to our children for ever; it is, to practice the virtues of morality—"to do all the word of this law."

LIEBIG.

To acquire the world-wide celebrity of a Liebig, a Schoenbein or a Bunsen, is an undertaking at the present day far different from what it was but a half century agone. Chemistry, the offspring of the empyricism of alchemy, and built upon accidental discoveries of the visionary hunters after the philosopher's stone or the waters of perennial youth, but a very few years since was in its infancy. Gay Lussac and Lavoisier discovered it as a foundling, Berzelius gave it a name, but it remained for the great man whose name heads our article, to make it a science and to direct its workings into the innumerable channels through which it now showers the greatest blessings upon the human race.

The days of the charlatan and quack in science have long been numbered, and the era of "learned" blacksmiths, or tinkers, or bricklayers, or weavers, or cobblers, has passed away. At the present day, in Europe at least, it is impossible for an ignoramus or an empyric to obtain even a scientific notoriety. A man, to become famous as a savan, must have received not only a scientific start in life, in the shape of a good school and college education, but he must continue his studies and experiments with all the aids of modern art and inventions, he must keep up with the literature and watch the progress of science and scientific discovery throughout the world. This will take his whole time, and then the work is but half done. He will have no time for ad interim weaving or bricklaying, or black-smithing.

We were led to the above train of thought by the following communication which we have received from a gentleman whose scientific attainments have already obtained a recognition in our midst, and which, by experiments now being made, is destined to aid not a little in developing the wondrous natural resources of our country. Having spent several years in the University of Munich, a great portion of which time was in the laboratory of Baron Von Liebig, and knowing him intimately at that time, we can add our own personal indorsement of everything that Dr. Hoerner has written.

MEMPHIS, TENN., September 18, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

In the Bulletin of August 22d occurred the following paragraph:

"Baron von Liebig, Beust's right-hand man and most trusted confidential adviser, is of very humble descent. He used to be a journey man cloth weaver, not many years ago. He then became a weaver on his own account, made money, started a large factory, and is now worth several millions."

The above, with the exception of the first sentence, is false in every particular. When my attention was first called to it, I intended to answer it, but press of other business caused me to delay doing so. I now take advantage of a leisure moment to contradict a statement which is calculated to give the readers of the APPEAL (and their name is legion,) an incorrect idea of the great and good Liebig.

Justus von Liebig was, indeed, the son of poor parents, but his father, a hard working Burgher of Geissen, appreciating the advantages of an education, gave him the benefit of a school, high school, and University education. After Liebig graduated, he became, as the students in German Universities say, a "Pailister," and remained at Geissen, where his talents and education were soon rewarded with a professorship. Of his career as a Professor and a scientific man I say nothing. It is a part of scientific history. The King Louis, of Barvaria, grandfather of the present King, and father of Maximilian, of blessed memory, recognizing him as the foremost of modern chemists (Bunsen and Schoenbein not excepted), and with that love of science, and regard for scientific men that was one of the redeeming traits of his character, when the University of Landshut was removed to Munich, invited Leibig thither, giving him a residence on the Carls-Strasse, and a salary of ten thousand gulden ($4000, gold) per annum. An allowance of one hundred thousand florins was also made him to establish his laboratory. These are all of the pecuniary rewards that were ever accorded to Liebig, the father, the founder, and now the head of organic chemistry.

As to his ever having been a weaver, or now being worth millions, both stories are alike false. He is a man living on a salary which would be called contemptible in this country, and has amassed no fortune. As an old scholar of Liebig's, Messrs. Editors, I ask you to publish this. Yours, truly,

THEO. HOERNER.

—Here is a very Frenchy story. A worldly cure was offered a seat in the box of a certain French Senator, to witness a representation of "La Belle Helene." He replied to the offer: "It is impossible for me to go. The ecclesiastical rules prevent me. But if M. le Senateur wishes me to confess him, I might get an idea of the piece in that way."

*R. Meir says: "The Gentile who studies the law is equal to the Jewish High priest."—(Abod. Zar. 3.)

—OF THE—
OVERTON HOTEL.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Chancery Court of Memphis, entered on the 28th day of February, 1868, for the sum of $58,706 26½, against J. M. Keating, B. B. Waddell and Coleman Boyd, we, the undersigned, Trustees and Commissioners of the said Court, will,

On the 10th Day of October Next,

Between the hours of 10 o'clock and 4, in front of the said Hotel, proceed to sell, to the highest bidder, on a credit of six and twelve months, the said Memphis Overton Hotel and the land on which the same stands, being the following lots, on the plan of the city of Memphis, to-wit: 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, situate on the north west corner of Main and Poplar streets in the city of Memphis, and embracing the block bounded by said Poplar and Main streets and Center alley, and an alley bounding said property on the north.

Redemption waived by the decree. The successful bidder will be required to execute notes for the purchase money with the most undoubted security before the sale is closed, and on failure, the sale will be continued, reopening on the last preceding bid.

The title is perfect, as we are advised, but we do not personally warrant the same.

THE NEWS.

S. N. Pike has given up all business in Cincinnati.

A steam fire-engine has just exploded in Portland, Maine.

The corn crops in Kentucky this season will be prodigious.

Jean Ingelow's father was a barber, and her mother was a Scotchwoman.

Beecher refuses to lecture. He is busy on his "Life of Christ."

Louis E. Nugent is a New York millionaire. He has $700,000 pocket money.

Mrs. Gaines is not likely to recover enough of her New Orleans property to pay the expenses of recovering it.

The discoverer of gold in California, John A. Sutter, now lives on a State bounty of $800 a year.

Eastman Johnson, the painter, was born and raised in the most rustic part of Maine.

There pass between London and Bombay thirty thousand telegraphic messages per annum.

Salt Lake City is to have a course of lectures. It is thought the "woman question" would be a good title for one of them.

The railway from Suez to Ismailia was opened on August 15, and in honor of the occasion, M. de Lesseps gave a grand banquet.

The latest from the Union Pacific Railroad is to the effect that it is now 1867 miles west of Chicago.

An exchange says that the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad run forty trains a day between Chicago and Aurora.

James M. Oliver, who is said to be peddling a method for preserving fruits in their natural state, is said to be a swindler, and the press is passing him around.

A Michigan paper says "there was never, perhaps, a State which required so many pioneers as Ohio to settle it, or where they lived so long or died so often."

At a meeting of the General Council of Louisville, the other day, it was resolved to permit the right of way through the city, to be secured for the proposed connection of the Louisville and Nashville, and Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington railroads.

A fire in Lynchburg, Virginia, on Thursday, burned seven tobacco warehouses on Main and West streets, together with a large amount of tobacco; also, a dwelling house. Miss Hinsfield was severely injured by jumping from the window of a dwelling. The property was all insured.

Two thousand and eleven buildings are in process of erection, or have just been completed, in St. Louis, at a cost of about $16,000,000. Of these buildings, 1311 are dwellings, 408 are stores, fifty-four are manufactories, twenty are school-houses, and eleven are churches. Only 236 of these buildings are of wood.

The Wisconsin State Journal says the wheat crop, which is now harvested and partly threshed, proves both in yield and quality to be better than was anticipated at the beginning of the harvest. In Jefferson county, a gentleman engaged in the flouring business, says the yield will average twenty bushels to the acre, where it was but twelve bushels last year, while the wheat is much better. A considerable larger breadth of wheat was sown last spring than in the previous year.

The Independence Belge says the fortifications on the lower Rhine are being strengthened. Belfort is receiving two hundred and fifty pieces of artillery, and other places in proportion. Aix la Chapelle letters mention that the city of Treves, in Rhenish Prussia, is fully armed and prepared to sustain a siege, the garrison numbering 12,000 men. Rhenish Prussia is alive with troops, and 40,000 men are ready to seize Luxemburg and fortify themselves there, should a telegram from Berlin order them to do so.

A letter to the St. Louis Republican, dated Walnut Grove, Ark., September 8th, says on the previous Sunday at the conclusion of religious services at the church in that place, the congregation was assailed and five of their number shot down, one of whom died instantly, and on the next day another was not expected to live, but the remaining two wounded will probably recover. The shooting is said to have been done by Radicals—the persons shot being Conservatives or Democrats. No arrests were made.

A Washington Special dispatch of the 18th, says: Mr. Alexander H. Stephens arrived here to-night, from the North. He appears to be in excellent health and spirits. In the course of a long conversation, he expressed nothing particularly new in reference to the South. He reiterated his statement that he had retired from public life, and wished to take no part in the political discussions of the day. He is, in a certain measure, satisfied with the condition of things in his own State, and expresses the greatest abhorrence of secret organizations. He visits Washington merely for the purpose of examining some of the archives of the late Confederacy, to aid him in the completion of the history of the rebellion.

Says the Davenport Gazette of the 15th: "In accordance with instructions received from the War Department on Saturday last, work on the coffer-dams for abutments and piers on the wagon bridge across the "minor" or south channel of the Mississippi, at the lower end of the island, will begin to-morrow. It is intended to have the material of the bridge itself ready to put into position by the time the abutment and pier work is completed. The superstructure will be of iron, and will consist of four spans, of 150 feet each. The roadway of the bridge is to be twenty-four feet in the clear, both to be properly covered or floored: the roadway with two and one-half inch thick and the sidewalks with one and a half inch thick oak flooring."

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 20th ult., says: The Central Pacific Railroad is completed to a point, 238 miles east of Sacramento, and nearly 400 miles from San Francisco. On the 19th inst., over six miles of track were laid. Probably at least eight or ten miles of track per day is now being regularly laid by the two companies. Eight days ago about seven hundred and seventeen miles remained to be built between the termini of the Central and Union Pacific. If only six miles of track per day has been laid, this distance is reduced to 669 miles. At this rate of track-laying only 557 miles of staging are necessary to-day. It is safe to assume that there will be at least thirty additional working days before winter sets in; and these will give 300 miles additional of completed track, leaving only 317 miles to be completed next season. Difficult as it is to comprehend the great fact, there seems to be scarcely a doubt that by the 4th of July next the journey from New York to San Francisco may be made entirely by rail.

The New York Herald of the 15th says: The Convention of German Freemasons, the object of which has already been fully published in the Herald, met last evening at No. 27 Bowery. The hall was pretty well filled with delegates of German lodges and other members of the order interested in the movement, and a number of lodges outside of this city, as from Patterson, N. J., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and even Boston, were represented by individual members, though some disclaimed to be empowered to act as delegates. Brother Burian called the Convention to order and Bro. Barthelmess was elected President; Brother Burian, Vice President, and Brothers G. Weber and Max Morgenthau, Secretaries. After some debate it was resolved that the vote of each brother present should be considered as their individual act, not binding upon their lodges, and that any brother may, if he so choose, abstain from voting. The several propositions for a reform of the organization, the formation of an Independent League (Bund) of Free and Accepted Masons, as heretofore published in these columns, were taken up seriatim and substantially agreed to, but only as provisional proposals, and not as a definite or permanent new Constitution.

There is hope that the Germania, an Arctic exploring ship, fitted out and sent out to the polar regions at the expense of the Russian Government, may bring us some tidings of Capt. Hall, who has been absent for many years in search of Sir John Franklin in the Esquimaux country, and from whom nothing has been heard for several months. At all events, the cruise of the Germania has commenced so auspiciously as to promise well for important results in scientific discovery—perhaps the solution of that old problem of the open Polar Sea. Should she succeed in this, the Germans will have the honor of having made the most important discovery in the Northern regions.

Some experiments have recently been made at the camp of Lyons on the bodies of dead horses, with the view of ascertaining the precise character of the wounds produced by conical bullets discharged from the Chassepot muskets. It is said that the aperture made by the projectile at the moment it penetrates the flesh is commonly no larger than an ordinary pea, but that the rotary movement of the ball revolving on its axis, gradually enlarges the circle until it makes a hole into which a person could thrust both fists.

An ingenious means of self-defence has lately been invented in Paris to take the place of ordinary weapons, the carrying of which has been forbidden in France. The new instrument consists of a horn inserted in the end of a cane, which horn contains an electric battery and a small lamp with two powerful reflectors. The intensity of the light temporarily blinds any person at whom it is pointed. The lamp is kindled at will by pressing a small knob at the other end of the cane, which knob communicates with an elewire. ctric

A French expedition was to have left the Sandwich Islands, early this season, for the Arctic regions, by way of Behring's Straits. Nothing, we believe, has been heard of this expedition, if it ever started. The San Francisco Bulletin trusts a Polar expedition may one day be fitted on the Pacific coast, to go by way of Behring's Straits, as it believes an early start in this direction would be much more favorable for discovery than the route along the eastern coast of Greenland.

The New Orleans Picayune of Friday thus reports Gen. Longstreet's reception by the Louisiana Legislature: Mr. Grey, Representative of St. James, moved that Gen. James Longstreet be escorted to the platform. Carried. The Chair appointed as the committee for this purpose Messrs. Grey and Morey, Representatives. [After the General ascended the platform the House took a recess of ten minutes to allow the members the privilege of shaking hands with him.—Rep. Picayune.]

A Washington paper states that it has the authority of President Johnson and Secretary McCulloch for denying the statement made in the several Radical papers, that Mr. Vallandigham had telegraphed to Secretary McCulloch inquiring why Radicals were appointed to office in Ohio, and demanding that the system should be stopped. The paper adds that Mr. McCulloch declares that he has received no dispatch from Mr. Vallindigham on any subject.

The old settlers of Alaska complain bitterly of the change which has come over their social and political condition since their country has become overrun with Yankees. The schools have been closed, the children enticed into drinking saloons, and all law and order seem to have been suspended while the speculators run their race for riches.

There is again considerable excitement in Washington and this neighborhood in relation to gold ore found in the wash of some of the Fairfax county streams which empty into the Potomac river. A piece of quartz rich enough in gold to well repay the cost of crushing and washing, was exhibited in Washington yesterday.

The North German Lloyds announce their determination to place upon the line between Baltimore and Bremen, not later than April next, two additional first class iron steamers. Laird, of the Clyde, is now building the steamers.

While sinking a well at Antelope Station, on the Union Pacific railroad, a human skeleton was found eighty feet below the surface, the diggers having previously passed through a rock formation six feet thick. There's a "lead" for the Mr. Pickwicks.

The "Chicago Blue Line" has put on a patent refrigerator freight car that arrived in Providence Wednesday morning, having started from Chicago six days before. It was loaded with game, fresh beef, pork, and butter.

Jacksonville, Tenn., puts in its claim for railroad centership. A line is talked of to run from Kansas City, through Louisiana, Mo., to that place, to make an eastern connection with the Toledo and Western railroad.

The East Tennessee and Virginia, and the East Tennessee and Georgia railroads have paid in the interest on the State bonds issued to them to the Fourth National Bank of New York, the financial agent of the State in that city. The amount paid is about $130,000.

Pennsylvania possesses in round numbers 4000 miles of railroad to New York's 3000, or one mile of rail to twelve square miles of territory.

A large force of laborers is now employed on the Evansville, Henderson and Nashville railroad, some 400 men, and the work is being pushed forward with great energy.

GRENADA AND MERIDIAN RAILROAD

A new project has just been started in Mississippi,—the construction of a Railroad from Grenada to Meridian. It will be a little over one hundred miles in length, and is the only unfinished link betwsen Memphis and Mobile. An air line between these two cities will pass directly through Grenada and Meridian. Our Mississippi and Tennessee Road regards this as but an extension of its line, and hence Col. WHITE, the President, and the citizens of Grenada and Meridian are earnestly co-operating in the steps necessary to begin and complete it. At their solicitation, Col. J. T. TREZEVANT, of this city, will address the people at Grenada on Saturday night, when the first meeting will be held, and a plan agreed upon for an immediate and thorough canvass of the line by him. We need say nothing about his familiarity with this subject; but we will urge upon our friends down there to hold meetings all through the country, so that the people may be aroused as to the importance of this enterprise. A few men cannot build it. All whom it would benefit should aid in its construction. Population, wealth, intelligence, refinement, all follow its path. Grenada and Meridian are especially interested; for the trade of that intervening country will build up each. In five years after its completion, these towns would have not less than ten thousand inhabitants.

All interested must put their shoulders to the wheel. The line has to be canvassed and surveys made. This will take money, for men cannot now work for reputation only. Let our friends be in earnest. Little streams make great rivers; and many hundreds soon count up thousands. We wish our friends of Grenada and Meridian all success; but can assure them that nothing but money builds railroads. They must go into the enterprise with that conviction, or they will be disappointed. Every man within fifteen miles of that line can well afford to give one-half his land to insure the construction of the road, for the other half will then be worth twice as much as the whole now is. We will not allow ourselves to doubt that each will do what his interests require; and, for this reason, we feel sure that this road will be built. To doubt it would be to believe that farmers who have no railroad, do not desire one; and we never yet saw such men.

STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

At a recent meeting of this Committee, at Nashville, the gallant Col. Frank P. Cahill, of that city, was appointed District Elector for the Fifth (Hermitage) Congressional District, with Maj. J. D. Walker as alternate.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Hon. A. S. Colyar to fill the place of Hon. Emerson Etheridge, our Elector for the State at large, until the return of the latter to fill his own appointments.

THE PERMANENT SCHOOL FUND.

A few days since the State Superintendent of Public Education, in a letter to a Mr. BENJAMIN RUSH, which we published in the APPEAL of Saturday, made the following statement, which we republish with a view to its more extended publicity as a falsehood, deliberately stated by one who knew at the time he was penning it that he was not telling the truth. He says:

If you intended your inquiries should include the Permanent Fund, I may say that it was in the Bank of Tennessee, and shared its fate in the rebellion. Notwithstanding this, as the State Government is constitutionally bound for the whole, the present State Government has already restored a portion of it, and is preparing to make good the entire amount. This can be easily done by the sale of Railroads, in the construction of which the State has aided, and that are now unable to pay the interest on the bonds issued and endorsed for them by the State.

The Permanent School Fund, amounting to over $700,000 in greenbacks, was turned over by direction of ex-Governor ISHAM G. HARRIS, and we believe, under the superintendence of a guard detailed by Gen. FORREST, to Commissioners appointed by Governor BROWNLOW, who went to Augusta, Georgia, to receive and receipt for it. Part of this fund—over $300,000—was deposited in the Tennessee National Bank of this city, from which it was stolen by Radical leaders, who have ever since the closing of the bank maintained a damaging silence about it. The remainder of the sum was spent—$325,000, by order of Governor BROWNLOW, in payment of the scallawag militia of last year—the balance, the Radicals can best tell how.

This is the truth as to the "Permanent School Fund," Gen. EATON. And you know it. You were editing a paper here at the time, and if you did not publish the confessions of your Governor, and the circumstances attending the suicide of the State Comptroller and the closing of the Tennessee National Bank, you read them in the daily papers of the day.

And after all this theft of the sacred fund, held through all the years of war inviolate, as the ark of the covenant of our exiled people, we are told that the accrued interest on the railroad bonds of the State is to be applied to its repayment. And, in the event this interest is not promptly paid, the railroads are to be sold to make up the deficiency.

The impudence of this man EATON, laying out such mischief for our commercial highways, as a means of repaying the money his co-workers in Radical infamy have stolen, is the coolest thing of the season.

These Radicals first steal the school fund and charge it to the Confederacy, then plot to sell our railroads to repay the theft.

If BROWNLOW is not to be compromised by it, we hope he will investigate this school-fund robbery. We cannot believe that he would deliberately connive at a theft.

HOW TO DEFEAT THE RADICAL PLOT.

A gentleman signing himself "O S." sends us, through the Post-office, the following extract of a letter which has before, we believe, found publication in one of our Nashville papers. We publish it for the sake of the last paragraph, which we think contains a very sensible suggestion, which is, in effect, that County Committees report to their county newspapers for wide spread circulation in other Democratic prints, the details of all outrages, within their respective precincts, by Radicals and their tools. The Republicans of the State have already circulated a lying statement as to the outrages committed in our State the past year, making something near 200 murders, and all said by them to have been perpetrated by white Democrats. The newspapers in the interests of our party, have rebutted these statements, but in the absence of any general and truthful record of them, are not able to do so as effectively as a compilation of facts would enable them to. We call attention to the suggestions of our friend as follows:

Let there be a thorough organization of the people throughout the State. Let every white man be enrolled in his Democratic Club. Let county, and district, and precinct committees, be formed of the worthiest, at least and wealthiest citizens. Let these committees guard the peace; see that all wrong-doers are brought to justice; offer themselves on the Sheriff's posse, if need be, find leave no excuse for Brownlow, or his Judges, or his Sheriffs, to say that the laws which bind society cannot be enforced. With such organization, the certainty of punishment, would strike terror to the hearts of evil-doers.

In this manner we can, in a great measure, defeat the enemy's attempt to represent us as rebellious malcontents. But these committees can promote our aim of exposing the enormities of Radical misrule. If, notwithstanding all precautions, crime still stalks abroad—if Brownlow's Judges refuse to punish Brownlow's pets—then let these committees expose forthwith each outrage perpetrated on a long suffering people. Let them gather the facts, have them properly certified before Radical Magistrates, if need be, and forward immediately for publication in our daily papers. Do not wait for indignation meetings. Let the committee do the work without delay. And do not allow the Radical lie to get the start of the truth.

HOW TO DO IT.

For the Democratic party, there is just now but one issue—the suppression of Radicalism. Until that is accomplished we should maintain a united front. We should work singly as well as in squads and clubs to accomplish that end.

Every man should consider himself bound to exert and use his influence with his neighbors, and make it a point to capture at least one vote. If every one of the 80,000 disfranchised men in Tennessee will escort to the polls next November, one voter, the overwhelming majority thus achieved for Democratic and Conservative principles will prove the death blow of Radical tyranny, now robbing and plundering us, and threatening us with murder, arson, and outrage.

Let every Democrat in Memphis resolve to accompany a friend to the polls in November. If he himself can vote he has the satisfaction of securing an additional vote for his party, if not he can congratulate himself that he has taken one vote from Radicalism, and securing it for Democracy, has thus counted two against the lodeceney and ruffianism that rules us to our ruin.

BE IT REMEMBERED.

Be it remembered, that Governor BROWNLOW, in his paper, the Knoxville Whig, over his signature "Senior Editor," stated that he would not call out the negro militia for fear, as he believed would be the case, a war of races would follow.

Be it remembered, that the "Memorial Committee," representing the Legislature before President JOHNSON, asserted with emphasis that they were fearful, indeed were convinced, that an interneceine war would result from the calling out of the white militia.

Be it remembered, that in the face of these admissions by the Governor and three of the most Radical members of the most Radical Legislature in the Union, BROWNLOW has called out the "so-called" loyal militia, to hold them in readiness as a means of intimidating the white people and defeating the otherwise certain triumph of the Democratic party.

TO THE PEOPLE OF TENNESSEE.

Campaign Address of the Tennessee State Democratic Executive Committee.

Citizens: After anxious deliberation and consultation with many able and discreet persons, the Democratic Executive Committee of Tennessee have resolved upon active and vigorous prosecution of the canvass in the pending contest for the Presidency, in behalf of Seymour and Blair, the nominees of the Democracy of the Union. In this contest we lock shields and march shoulder to shoulder, and hip to hip, with the party who struggle for the restoration of the country to the principles upon which it was framed in 1787-'89, and administered by Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Jackson. Our warfare is with a party that seeks the overthrow of those principles by a subversion of the Constitution and a revolution of the Government—erecting, instead of nicely balanced Representative Democracy, a mobocratic centralization of power in one branch of government.

The events of the past three years show that nearly one hundred propositions have been offered in Congress to amend the Constitution; that the Legislative Department has transcended its powers by usurping the Judicial, and taking away those of the Executive; that it has declared that it is the only representative of the supreme will of the nation; that under this declaration it has assumed to remould and dictate to the co-ordinate departments, and concentrated all the essential powers of Government in its own hand; that it has denied to the States those essential rights to their safety and happiness that were never before questioned; that they have arbitrarily and without cause or warrant placed ten States of the Union under martial law, and ruled them by the sword, and finally dictated to them terms upon which they should have a voice in public affairs.

The progress in this restoration of the Government has been as bold and rapid as it has been reckless. It is against this change in the organic structure of this Government that the Democratic party of the Union has protested with a unanimity, an ardor and firmness never before equaled in the history of contests at the ballot-box. They have invited us to join them in the noble and patriotic struggle, that we may share with them the glory of a triumph which, they tell us, is almost assured, and enjoy with them the blessings of liberty and republican government, which will otherwise be lost to us and our posterity forever.

Our response is, "WE COME!" We enter the lists and join hands with our fellow Democrats of the North, the East, the South and the West, pledging ourselves to do all that may be done to put the revolutionists to flight and save to ourselves and the world liberty and justice flowing from a constitutional republic.

In coming to this determination, the Executive Committee have not been unmindful of the difficulties and embarrassments which we confront. We have realized the magnitude of the proscriptions and oppressions that have fettered us for three years, and the present autocratic powers over the ballot-box, possessed by the Governor and his pliant instruments.

But we feel it to be our duty as freemen, the descendants of freemen, and the inheritors of liberty as a birth-right, to make the struggle.

We, therefore, appeal to the people of the State en masse to unite with us and with a powerful national Democracy in the campaign, and to organize without delay for the final day. The ticket for electors for the State at large is complete in the 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th and 8th Congressional Districts. Electors are yet to be chosen or appointed in the two remaining districts. Let this be done immediately. A plan of canvass will be sent within a few days to the various counties. In the meantime, let the Democracy of each town, county and civil district organize its Seymour and Blair clubs, enrolling the names of non-voters as well as voters, and go actively and vigorously to work to poll as many votes as possible. A large class of our voting population has been deceived, cajoled, hired or frightened into the support of the Radical party. They are being undeceived; let us now press on the work until they shall be convinced of the Radical enormities of the times. The arguments for the purpose are pressing and strong. By watchfulness and industry, by prudence and substantial kindness, the minds of this class can be relieved of falsehood and made to comprehend the truth, and a large proportion brought to the support of our ticket. In this direction lies much of the efficient work of the canvass; and judging from the results in other States, we believe that even here we can break the power of the party that burdens and oppresses all for the benefit of a few.

But seven weeks remain in which will be decided the issue of the most important national canvass the American people were ever engaged in. Yet in that brief interval splendid results may be achieved by wise, prompt and vigorous action. With us in Tennessee the immediate business in hand is to add our ten electoral votes to the popular vote of the Democratic States for Seymour and Blair. The bulk of the vote to be influenced to the accomplishment of that end is contained in the enfranchised colored resident population of the State. That our own salvation and theirs rests upon the withdrawal of that vote from the pernicious influence of designing political adventurers does not admit of a moment's doubt. The balance of power which the native colored voters of Tennessee hold in their hands must not be surrendered up to those adventurers without an earnest effort that it be not used against the dearest interests of this people, white and black. Accepting facts as we find them; recognizing inevitable truths as they exist, blinded by no prejudice of the dead past to the obscurity and detriment of our true interests in the living present; unbiased by passion; obeying the dictates of reason rather than of impulse; with courage to be just, that our quarrel be thrice armed; acting honestly up to the avowed principles of our party, that there shall be "no taxation without representation," let it be universally proclaimed throughout the Democratic party in Tennessee, rank and file, front and rear, that no colored citizen of the State, uniting with us in the overthrow of a common tyranny, and in the redemption of our noble State, shall be disturbed in any of his vested rights, if through his agency our own rights should be restored to us. With this distinct and unequivocal pledge to the people through whom and with whom we can alone expect to triumph over the common oppressor, there can be no shadow of doubt as to the triumphant result of our combined action. Our own interests and those of the colored citizens being mutual, and the interests of the Radical adventurers being diametrically opposed to both, this course upon our part is demanded by every consideration of party expediency, common gratitude, justice and right.

It is not merely the selfish and hypocritical question as to how far the colored vote may be controlled through the agency of promise of employment and wages, by proscriptive threats, bribery, or intimidation, but it is upon the higher principle of common justice, that a disfranchised people, whose consent could be obtained to seek the restoration of their own liberties through a people enfranchised, cannot consistently withhold their consent also to a proposition which secure to the latter the liberties they at present hold in their own hands.

Tennesseans! Having thus been announced as active participants in the all-important contest for constitutional liberty, we again repeat the appeal to each individual Democrat, to every neighborhood and town and city in the State to organize and enter upon the labor of the day, with industry, constancy and perseverance. The time is brief, but enough is left to crown our effort with a glorious triumph in November, if every one opposed to Radical rule and Radical ruin will but raise himself and do his duty to himself and his country.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, September 20.—W. F. Paige, commission merchant in this city, was attacked by highwaymen Friday night, near Ringgold in this county, and robbed of $260. No clue to the robbers.

BOWLING GREEN.

BOWLING GREEN, KY., September 20.—Joseph Post, from Patterson, N. J., an engineer on the Clarksville division of the Louisville Railroad, was run over and killed by last night's south bound express, at Rockfield, Ky. He was acting as engineer on the north bound freight which was delayed and was waiting for the passenger train, unwittingly sat down on the main track and fell asleep. His remains will go home to-morrow morning by Adams Express.

WHEELING.

WHEELING, VA., September 20.—The Republicans fired one hundred guns yesterday in honor of their victory in Maine. At night an enthusiastic meeting was held in Washington under the auspices of the Grant club. It was largely attended. Hon. J. C. Carlile, formerly United States Senator from Virginia under the reorganized government, spoke for two hours in support of Grant and Colfax, and was followed briefly by Hon. Ben. Stanton. The remarks of both gentlemen were loudly applauded.

CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, September 20.—A letter was received here to-day from Mike McCoole, dated St. Louis, expressing his willingness to enter the ring with Heenan for a stake of five thousand dollars, providing that any man in America be selected as stake holder, the other man to be Frank Queen. John Franklin, of this city, holds Heenan's first deposit of two thousand five hundred dollars, and Mr. Hays is ready to cover it upon the acceptance of proposed terms. The fall meeting of the Buckeye racing club commences on Saturday next. Some of the finest stables in the West have already arrived, and more are coming. Yesterday morning the tug boat Legrice, bound from Cincinnati, for Pittsburg, with two empty coal barges, when near Chilo, on the Ohio river, collapsed two flues in her starboard boiler. A colored fireman named Duckst, of Allegheny City, was blown overboard and lost. Two other firemen, Andeson and Gatewood, also of Alleghany City, were badly scalded. The boat was brought back to this city. A man named Casper Rosenke er committed suicide yesterday by blowing his brains out with a pistol.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, September 20.—The apprehensions of war have partially subsided. During the past week the efforts of Parisian press to extract a warlike significance from the speech of the King of Prussia, at Kiel, have proven a failure. It is evident that peace is sincerely desired by the governments and people of Europe, with the sole exception of the Emperor of the French, whose purpose is unknown, and, perhaps, undetermined. A growing indignation is manifesting itself at his ubiquity or indecision.

DUBLIN, September 20.—At a meeting of the Roman Catholic citizens of Galway, a resolution was adopted pledging those present to oppose all candidates for Parliament who do not support Mr. Gladstone's resolves for the establishment of the Irish Church.

PESTH, September 20.—The Hungarian Diet proposes to establish universal religious toleration throughout the Kingdom.

TRIESTE, September 20.—Shortly after his arrival at this port Admiral Farragut received and entertained a party of Austrian naval and military officers on board his flag ship, the Franklin. The Admiral subsequently made a visit to Miramar, the residence of the late Archduke Maximilian.

PARIS, September 20.—Queen Isabella, of Spain, made a visit to the Emperor and Empress, at Biarritz, soon after the return of the latter from St Sebastian.

An insurrection is reported to have broken out in Andalusia, Spain.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, September 20.—The steamship Arizona, from Aspinwall 12th inst., has arrived with $380,000 treasure.

Affairs at Panama remain unsettled. Gens. Golta and Mata were disturbing the Government by opposing elections in the interior, and President Correzo had dispatched some troops to the scene of difficulty. Several revolutionary characters had been banished, and the Government was strenuously exerting itself to restore tranquility. President Diaz and his secretary, Bermudez, had returned from their banishment to San Francisco, and remain in Panama by permission of the Government.

In a squall at Aspinwall on the 8th an American brig, the Rolling Wave, was struck by lightning and suffered some damage. A violent hurricane passed over Tobago on the 9th, accompanied by a whirlwind, which uprooted trees, destroyed houses, and did much damage to the shipping. The steamer Rohari was badly injured in her upper works, and a schooner was dashed to pieces on the rocks.

The steamship Rohari, from Australia, August 2d, had arrived at Aspinwall on the 15th. Extraordinary discoveries of gold have been made at Ophir, in New South Wales, and there was a great rush to the new diggings. Difficulty had arisen between the Colonial Government and the American Consul at Sidney, concerning some contracts made under the Consular seals, which were alleged to be unwarranted. No explanation had been made by Consul Latham. The American Consul at Victoria presented, by order of his government, testimonials to Capt. Glenroy for rescuing the survivors from the wreck of the ship Gen. Grant, at Auckland Islands.

The South Australian Parliament opened in July. The expenditures of the colony exceed £180 sterling.

The cotton crop in Queensland proved successful.

Arrived steamship Merrimac from Rio Janeiro, Pernambuco and St. Thomas, 24th. The news she brings confirms the previous accounts of the capture of Humaita and the situation of affairs at Timbo and in Tebicuany.

THE MEMPHIS HAT STORE is the place to get a fashionable dress hat. Messrs. Leidy & Co. have now on hand some of the "handsomest" hats, both in shape and texture, that we have ever seen. Their stock of silk hats is especially fine, and every gentleman should invest in one of them.

THE Central Park opening picnic will come off to-morrow, positively. One of the grand features of the day will be a game of cricket played in the grounds by the Bluff City Cricket Club, who have been made the especial guests of Messrs. McClure & O'Connor for the occasion. Our friends who intend participating in the festivities of the day, should not forget to provide baskets of lunch. There will be a barbecue on the grounds in charge of Charlie Williams, who is known to have no superior as a caterer. Everybody is invited, and Messrs. McClure & O'Connor hope to see everybody accept this invitation. Music has been provided, and dancing will also be a feature of the day's amusements. Trains will be run out to the Park on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad every hour during the day. Fare for the round trip, 20c.

Francisco & Wiggin, Hatters and Furriers, 307 Main street, are receiving all the late styles of hats for the fall trade. sep21 3t

THE LAW OF KINDNESS.—The man who loves his family, his home, whose little ones smile and run to meet him as he nears his dwelling, cannot be indifferent to the condition they might occupy in this cold and selfish world were he to be removed. No words or acts of tenderness can then be spoken, and the little ones whose every want was cheerfully supplied, are obliged to look to others for support. It is conceded that a loving and indulgent husband studies the comfort of his family, and avails himself of all the advantages that are presented for the continuance of those comforts. What a consolation it is to a parent who loves his wife and children to know there is a society formed by good men of like interests which invites us to cast all the future well-being of our families into their care. The St. Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company is such an institution, and has its net-work of agents spread over the whole land. Here, in Memphis, its agents are Messrs. McMahon & Otis, in the Kit Williams block, Madison street. They have an abundance of means, and know how to administer it to the best possible advantage for the benefit of our families. A small amount annually appropriated affords a positive remedy against such a contingency, that must, sooner or later arise. A large portion of the losses paid by life insurance companies are paid to families that had nothing else left to them for their support.

OILS.

The Non-explosive---"So-called" Domestic Volcanoes.

We feel that we are not only doing our duty as a journalist, but we are advancing the cause of humanity in publishing the following, the result of practical tests as to the explosibility of the various fluids which are in daily and hourly use in every family in the land. The book of horrors that could be made of the reports of accidents resulting from the use of burning fluids and compounds, would make the reader, accustomed as we are to horrors, stand aghast.

The results narrated below are a portion of a report made some time since of experiments made in Louisville, Ky., on the banks of the canal, near the coal oil refinery of Messrs. Skeene & Co. The oils tested were the Aurora oil, Sun oil, and the refined coal oil of Messrs. Skeene & Co.

Omitting the personal part of the report, we give the actual test:

The first experiment was firing a quantity of Solar Oil. It immediately ignited, and burned with great rapidity. Pouring water on the flames only intensified them, but when Coal Oil was poured upon it there was an instantaneous smothering of the fire. A half pint of the Solar Oil was then poured in a thick and stout oak barrel, and upon the fire being touched it exploded with a terrific force; the staves were broken in fragments, being forced upon the ground; it was lighted, and the flames leaped along the track with fearful rapidity. The Aurora Oil next came under examination. It was likewise successful in blowing up a barrel and demolishing it almost entirely. The Coal Oil was placed in a barrel, and one of Mr. Skeene's workmen, to show his faith, seated himself upon the barrel. When the light was applied no explosion whatever ensued. Experiments were made with the products in various ways, and all were satisfactory. We know nothing of the controversy, for it has not heretofore come under our observation. That which we saw we record. The owners of the explosive oils may, under other tests and other circumstances, produce a different result.

THE REASON WHY.—One of the most important objects a man can have in this world is to make sure his family will be provided for when he is taken away. You effect this the moment you take a policy on your life in favor of your family, whether death is caused either by accident, epidemic, lightning, sudden or naturally. Some one must take the risk of your life, for it is certain that you must die some time. Is it not better you sit still and transfer it to an Association that is formed for this especial purpose and invites you to join them that they may protect your family, rather than to hazard their support on your friends or society, or that your dependent ones should take the risk themselves? Your health may permit you to insure to-day, but to delay until to-morrow, disease or accident may prevent your ever obtaining a policy so cheap. Such instances are frequent. This is the easiest and only way by which you can at once make a sure provision for your family, and relieve you from anxiety as to how they shall be provided for in case of your death. The New York Life Insurance Company, whose agents in this city are Messrs. McClure & Conkin, hold out sure inducements to you to perform this duty to yourself and family, and at a small expense. The peace of mind to yourself and family resulting from this small outlay, and the performance of this duty, will repay you an hundredfold. It is a wise use of money; if you live long it is a good investment. If you should die soon, your family will receive the amount back, increased an hundredfold, and your memory will be honored for your wisdom and forethought in making so wise a provision for them.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

LOUISVILLE, September 20.—Departed Clifton for Memphis. River falling, with 7 feet 9 inches in the canal.

MEMPHIS, September 21.—The weather has again changed, and rain is now the order of the day. Yesterday it fell almost without intermission. The river is rising rapidly, and is fast submerging the sandbar opposite.

Arrivals.

Steamer Louisiana, New Orleans.
" Natoma, Napoleon.
" Mollie Hambleton, St. Francis river.
" Legal Tender, New Orleans.

Departures.

Steamer Louisiana, Louisville.
" Legal Tender, Louisville.

In Port.

Steamers Darling, Peerless, Natoma, Mollie Hambleton.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The levee was very quiet yesterday. The crews of the Darling and Peerless, after returning from church, spent the balance of the day in quiet meditation or a game of "seven up."

The Louisiana passed up yesterday. Her officers had paid for their whistle, in the shape of wharfage, on the down trip, and this time did not make a line fast, though they landed at the wharfboat and put off a bale of cotton. As it is not a landing, in the eye of the law, without the boat is made fast, the city could not collect wharfage and Bob Good was nonplussed.

The Mollie Hambleton, Capt. Tom Bowman will leave to-morrow for all points on the St. Francis river. False, Clark and Snell are clerks.

The splendid packet Natoma, Capt. Jim Lee, leaves to-day at 5 p.m. for Napoleon and all way landings. She connects with the Arkansas river packets, and is one of the most prompt packets in any trade. Fields, Whitehead and Lee are her secretaries.

The independent Ida Are, with John Elliott on the roof, Joe Elliott in the office and Matt Glass at the foot of the stairs, leaves to-morrow for Jacksonport and all way points.

The U. S. mail packet Liberty, Capt. Jim Rice, will back out to-morrow for all points on White river, connecting with the train at Devall's Bluff. Milt Harry and Charley Sharpe are clerks.

The Legal Tender also passed up yesterday. Like the Louisiana, she landed her passengers without tying a line, and paid no wharfage.

The H. M. Shreve, Capt. Carter, with Mr. Henry Worsham in the office, passes down for Vicksburg to-day at 5 p.m. She is a No. 1 packet, and makes all way landings.

The elegant passenger packet Belle Memphis, Capt. Crane, with Billy Bleaker in the office, leaves for Cairo and St. Louis this evening. She is one of the finest passenger steamers on the river.

The Shark and barges passed up yesterday.

The Darling will be up to-morrow for Cincinnati. She is commanded by Capt. Lew Cates, one of the most popular officers coming to this port. Mr. Power is chief clerk of the Darling.

The Mississippi came off the docks at St. Louis on saturday, and leaves for this port to-morrow.

The Olive Branch left St. Louis for New Orleans yesterday morning.

Upon all the upper Mississippi trade, grows interesting. The White Collar line, however, is the favorite with travelers and shippers. Capt. Abe Hutchinson knows how to win in such a contest.

The steamboatmen's Seymour Club will meet at their hall this evening.

The Lady Gay will pass down to-day for New Orleans, Capt. John H. Burke is master. The Gay is on her first trip in the Cairo and New Orleans trade.

The Quitman, on her last trip to New Orleans had five bales new cotton.

The Tahlequah has been chartered for the New Orleans and Ouachita trade.

The Clifton left Cincinnati for this port Saturday.

The Welcome goes into the Ouachita trade.

The wrecked J. F. Webb is owned at Vicksburg, and not insured.

It is a fact that Memphis charges more wharfage than St. Louis by 2½ per ton. The Memphis and St. Louis Packet Company is required to pay nearly $10 per week more at this point than at St. Louis. But then this is a city while the other is but a small village. The Louisville Journal says on the subject: "All the boats are giving Memphis the go-by, on account of the uniform wharfage being exacted there from transient steamers. The Peoria City, which passed that city on Wednesday last, having heard of the uniform wharfage affair, would not stop, but sent her passengers ashore in a yawl. This is one of the many beauties of Radical rule."

How do our City Fathers like that last line? Acting Attorney General Ashton is busily engaged in preparing an opinion on the question referred to him by the secretary of war, as to the right of owners of steamboats impressed into the service during the war and lost in the rebel States, to receive compensation from the Quartermaster General therefor.

Capt. John Jones, an old steamboatman, died at Mobile on the 18th. Up to the time of his illness Capt. Jones was clerk on the steamer Prairie State, on which boat and the Cherokee he had served since the surrender. Previous to the war he was attached to the New Orleans Mail Line, but upon the breaking out of hostilities he promptly took the field, and gallantly and faithfully performed his duty, serving first as lieutenant and afterwards as captain of a field battery.

FINANCE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, September 19, 1868.

Our bankers report this as a dull day, in all respects. Money is comparatively easy, and all legitimate short time paper is taken at the usual rates.

Exchange was not so freely offered to-day, although our banks are all abundantly supplied. Cotton bills are taken at ¼ discount, and mercantile bills on all points North and West at par. Selling at ¼@⅝ premium on the East, and all other Northern and Western cities at ⅜c premium.

City Bonds are quiet. Several lots are held at 50, and some offerings were reported during the day at 49¼c, but we could learn of no sales.

There are orders on the market for Mississippi and Tennessee bonds and stocks, but other railroad securities are not in much demand.

City Scrip is firm. Dealers buy at 71@74c. Selling at 76@78c.

County Warrants, in small sums, are in demand, but large Warrants are not taken by brokers, as there is very little call for large pieces. Where sums suit, they are taken at 54@55c. Selling at 55@60c.

Police Scrip is in active demand, as taxes are falling due. Dealers buy at 80@82c. Selling at 85@86c.

The New York Stock Board quotations were at noon to-day as follows: Old Tennessee bonds, 69¼; new, 69¼. New York Central, 131½. Erie, 48¾.

Gold, in New York, opened at 144¼c and closed at 144¾c. Outside a few small lots, we could hear of no sales. Dealers buy at 142@142¾c. Selling at 143@143¾c.

Many of the statements put forth by Radical politicians relative to the amounts of the national debt, and the ordinary expenditures of the Government, display the very sublimity of impudence. Although they must know that detection is certain, they continue to promulgate them as irrefutable truths, trusting that they may pass current until after the election, or that some may read and credit their statements, owing to the fact that they never see the contradiction. We are glad, therefore, that the New York Journal of Commerce has condescended to notice one of these "good enough Morgans" in a crushing manner, and to present an array of figures, derived from Republican sources, which furnish a complete refutation of its statements. Senator Trumbull might find better use for his frank than the circulation of falsehoods:

Under frank of Senator Trumbull, of Illinois, we have received for notice a copy of a campaign document purporting to give the "financial issues of the campaign." It is so full of misstatements, some sheer inventions, and other gross misrepresentations, that it seems hardly worth while to attempt a refutation in detail. It opens with a statement that "the public expenditures under Mr. Buchanan's administration for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1860, were $77,482,102 72 in gold." This is true in one sense, but it conveys a very erroneous impression. There fell into the Treasury $19,360,290 10 in Treasury notes, of which over fourteen millions were paid off in the course of the year. The total disbursements were as follows:

Civil service	$ 8,148,615 41
Foreign intercourse	1,163,207 15

Total disbursements	$77,462,112 72

The miscellaneous included between eight and nine millions to make up a deficiency in the postoffice revenue, but the total for the public debt, most of it to pay principal, was about one-fourth of the whole sum. The document adds in the next line: "Howell Cobb, then Secretary of the Treasury, in the same report from which these figures were taken, estimated the expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1861, at $66,348,998 75. This estimate was based upon a condition of peace, and included about three millions of dollars for interest on the public debt." Here the writer acknowledges that he had the official report before him, and he actually pretends to take from it a supposed estimate for interest, but conceals the fact that $30,624,600 was included to pay off a former loan, and was in no proper sense a part of the year's estimate of expenditures. The whole of the cost of the government for that year was estimated at $35,478,701 17, of which one-quarter's outlay was actually incurred when the estimate was compiled.

This is a fair specimen of the way the whole pamphlet of twenty pages is made up for political effect. We have not noticed it, however, more to expose a partisan falsehood, nor even because it contains an article quoted approvingly from our columns on the question of greenback payment (which we regret to see in such bad company), but because we do not wish the people to become accustomed to the idea that the present extravagant modes for carrying on the administration of national affairs bear any reasonable relation to the expenditure in wiser times for the same purposes. The totals of "ordinary expenses," which include everything but debt and loans, are those given in the official report issued at Washington under the highest Republican authority, and we commend this statement to the compilers of the No. 4 Document, and hope it will be in season for their next issue:

COTTON.

Cotton was quiet in Liverpool to-day at the opening, with Uplands, 10¼d; Orleans, 10¼d; and was unchanged throughout.

The New York market, at the opening, was quiet but firm—Uplands, 26½c—and closed quiet, but steady, at unchanged quotations. Sales of 1159 bales Uplands, for December delivery, at 25½. Week's sales or stock on hand not given.

In this market there was a fair inquiry, notwithstanding it was the last day of the week. The following sales were reported: 1 bale Ordinary, 22c; 1 do. Good Ordinary, 22½c; 2 do. 23c; 1 do. 23½c; 2 do. 24c; 2 bales Low Middling, 24½c; 4 do. 24c; 5 do. 23c; 4 do. 23c; 5 do. 23½c; 2 bales Middlings, 24c; 4 do. 23½c; 4 do. 24½c; 4 do. 24¾c. We look for more activity during the coming week, if prices continue steady, as several Eastern buyers, who have recently returned from their summer tour, will commence operations.

By a private letter, we learn that the cotton crop of the Yazoo and Tallahatchie river valley is suffering very severely from the ravages of the worm. The writer, who dated his letter from Waterfront, Miss., September 16th, says that it will be impossible to make over a half crop.

TRADE.

Saturday, which is usually a busy day with us, was rather dull yesterday, or, rather, many of our merchants complained of having little to do, while others appeared to have their hands full. Trade was brisk only in spots. Prices are much the same as yesterday, in all articles. Iron ties are becoming scarce, while rope is not in demand.

We have heard some complaint relative to the rates of freight agreed to, in convention, by the freight agents recently convened in this city. While the agents claim that freights are about 10c per 100 lbs. less than last year, these parties claim that such is not the fact. We shall merely refer to the case of one house, which, in a statement made to us, gave the following as the rates paid by them last year. Previous to October 15th the house claims to have shipped non-compress cotton at $1 50 per 100 lbs. On October 12th, at $1 70; October 14th, $1 85; November 16 h, $1 75. The rates adopted by the different lines, which went into effect in October, last year, lest two weeks later than the change occurred this season, were as follows, on cotton, from Memphis or Nashville to the following places:

	All Rail. Non Comp.	All Rail. Comp.	Rail and Water. Non Comp.	Rail and Water. Comp.
	Per 100 pounds.		Per 100 pounds.
Boston	$1 95	$1 56	$1 85	$1 48
Providence	"	"	"	"
New York	1 85	1 48	1 75	1 40
Philadelphia	1 75	1 40	1 65	1 32
Baltimore	1 65	1 32	1 55	1 24
Buffalo	1 20	96	1 10	88
Fall River	2 05	1 65	1 95	1 56

The Convention has adopted the following rates for this year, which took effect September 18th:

	All Rail. Non Comp.	All Rail. Comp.	Rail and Water. Non Comp.	Rail and Water. Comp.
Boston	$1 85	$1 48	$1 75	$1 38
Providence	"	"	"	"
Fall River	"	"	"	"
New York	1 75	1 40	1 65	1 30
Philadelphia	1 65	1 32	1 55	1 22
Baltimore	1 55	1 24	1 45	1 14
Buffalo	1 20	96	1 10	88

It will be seen that rates are lower this year than last, and that if any shipments were made last season at better figures than those given above, it was in the shape of rebate, a system bred by the war, in iniquity, and which we have, more than once, denounced as degrading to the merchant and the shipping agent, and a swindle upon the planter and the purchaser.

WOLFE'S

Schiedam Schnapps.

THE above Medicinal Beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at his distillery, in Schiedam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use.

It is now some twenty years since the profitor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time he has received over three thousand letters from physicians, indorsing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice.

It is made from barley of the finest quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain growing districts, flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper-berry of Italy, and rectified by a peculiar process, which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.

As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effect produced upon the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelling in the West, the South, and South-west are peculiarly liable,—the SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS will be found absolutely infallible; while in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, strictures, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases, with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a facsimile of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.

COTTON GINS

EAGLE COTTON GINS.

WE are the Sole Agents for the sale of those unrivaled Gin Stands. For beauty of STAPLE, LIGHTNESS OF DRAFT, AND QUANTITY OF LINT COTTON turned out per day, they are unsurpassed. Reference can be safely made to every planter who has them in active use. Where mule power is used, they make a saving of from one-quarter to one-third the draft over any other GIN. We are also agents for STRAUB'S GRIST MILLS, and WHEELER, CLEMSON & CO.'S CIRCULAR SAWS.

Pratt's Southern Made Cotton Gin

THIS GIN is regarded by planters who have used it, as the best for sample, picking the seed clean and light draught. Planters on alluvial bottom lands are requested to examine the Eureka Gin at Farrington & Howell's, 286 Front street. It will pay for itself in ginning fifty bales. A. N. Gunnison, manufacturer of the Steel Comb Gin before the war but now a planter, gives the following certificate:

"MEMPHIS, TENN., January 31, 1868.

"I take pleasure in recommending to planters cultivating Cotton on bottom lands of the Mississippi, Arkansas, White and St. Francis rivers, the Eureka Gin, made by Daniel Pratt, of Alabama. This Gin separates the boll, bolls, etc., from the Seed Cotton, makes a good sample, and is superior to any other Gin for bottom lands. I have used one myself on a farm in Washington county, Miss., and 15 operates well and gives entire satisfaction in every respect. A. N. GUNNISON."

Orders for Gins, from 40 to 80 Saws and Gum Belting, at Factory Prices, addressed to the care of FARRINGTON & HOWELL, 286 Front street, Memphis, promptly filled. Presses and Gearing put up, and Gins repaired by a skilful Ginwright. G. W. TRUHEART,

THE LAW OF KINDNESS.—The man who loves his family, his home, whose little ones smile and run to meet him as he nears his dwelling, cannot be indifferent to the condition they might occupy in this cold and selfish world were he to be removed. No words or acts of tenderness can then be spoken, and the little ones whose every want was cheerfully supplied, are obliged to look to others for support. It is conceded that a loving and indulgent husband studies the comforts of his family, and avails himself of all the advantages that are presented for the continuance of those comforts. What a consolation it is to a parent who loves his wife and children to know there is a society formed by good men of like interests which invites us to cast all the future well-being of our families into their care. The St. Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company is such an institution, and has its net-work of agents spread over the whole land. Here, in Memphis, its agents are Messrs. McMahon & Otis, in the Kit Williams block, Madison street. They have an abundance of means, and know how to administer it to the best possible advantage for the benefit of our families. A small amount annually appropriated affords a positive remedy against such a contingency, that must, sooner or later, arise. A large portion of the losses paid by life insurance companies are paid to families that had nothing else left to them for their support.

OILS.

The Non-explosive---"So-called" Domestic Volcanoes.

We feel that we are not only doing our duty as a journalist, but we are advancing the cause of humanity in publishing the following, it is result of practical tests as to the explosibility of the various fluids which are in daily and hourly use in every family in the land. The book of horrors that could be made of the reports of accidents resulting from the use of burning fluids and compounds, would make the reader, accustomed as we are to horrors, stand aghast.

The results narrated below are a portion of a report made some time since of experiments made in Louisville, Ky., on the banks of the canal, near the coal oil refinery of Messrs. Skeene & Co. The oils tested were the Aurora oil, sun oil, and the refined coal oil of Messrs. Skeene & Co.

Omitting the personal part of the report, we give the actual test:

The first experiment was firing a quantity of Solar Oil. It immediately ignited, and burned with great rapidity. Pouring water on the flames only intensified them, but when Coal Oil was poured upon it there was an instantaneous smothering of the fire. A half pint of the Solar Oil was then poured in a thick and stout oak barrel, and upon the fire being touched it exploded with a terrific force; the staves were broken in fragments, being forced upon the ground; it was lighted, and the flames leaped along the track with fearful rapidity. The Aurora Oil next came under examination. It was likewise successful in blowing up a barrel and demolishing it almost entirely. The Coal Oil was placed in a barrel, and one of Mr. Skeene's workmen, to show his faith, seated himself upon the barrel. When the light was applied no explosion whatever ensued. Experiments were made with the products in various ways, and all were satisfactory. We know nothing of the controversy, for it has not heretofore come under our observation. That which we saw we record. The owners of the explosive oils may, under other tests and other circumstances, produce a different result.

THE REASON WHY.—One of the most important objects a man can have in this world is to make sure his family will be provided for when he is taken away. You effect this the moment you take a policy on your life in favor of your family, whether death is caused either by accident, epidemic, lightning, sudden or natural. Some one must take the risk of your life, for it is certain that you must die some time. Is it not better you shall transfer it to an Association that is formed for this especial purpose and invites you to join them that they may protect your family, rather than to hazard their support on your friends or society, or that your dependent ones should take the risk themselves? Your health may permit you to insure to-day, but to delay until to-morrow, disease or accident may prevent your ever obtaining a policy he after. Such instances are frequent. This is the easiest and only way by which you can at once make a sure provision for your family, and relieve you from anxiety as to how they shall be provided for in case of your death. The New York Life Insurance Company, whose agents in this city are Messrs. McClure & Caskin, hold out rare inducements to you to perform this duty to yourself and family, and at a small expense. The peace of mind to yourself and family resulting from this small outlay, and the performance of this duty, will repay you an hundredfold. It is a wise use of money; if you live long it is a good investment. If you should die soon, your family will receive the amount back, increased an hundredfold, and your memory will be honored for your wisdom and forethought in making so wise a provision for them.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

LOUISVILLE, September 20.—Departed Clifton for Memphis. River falling, with 7 feet 9 inches in the canal.

MEMPHIS, September 21.—The weather has again changed, and rain is now the order of the day. Yesterday it fell almost without intermission. The river is rising rapidly, and is fast submerging the sandbar opposite.

Arrivals.

Steamer Louisiana, New Orleans.
" Paloma, Napoleon.
" Mollie Hambleton, St. Francis river.
" Legal Tender, New Orleans.

Departures.

Steamer Louisiana, Louisville.
" Legal Tender, Louisville.

In Port.

Steamers Darling, Peerless, Natoma, Mollie Hambleton.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The levee was very quiet yesterday. The crews of the Darling and Peerless, after returning from church, spent the balance of the day in quiet meditation or a game of "seven up."

The Louisiana passed up yesterday. Her officers had paid for their release, in the shape of wharfage, on Lee down trip, and thus time did not make a line fast, though they landed at the wharfboat and put off a bale of cotton. As it is not a landing, in the eye of the law, without the boat is made fast the city could not collect wharfage and Bob Good was nonplussed.

The Mollie Hambleton, Capt. Tom Bowman will leave to-morrow for all points on the St. Francis river. Paine, Clark and Shell are clerks.

The splendid packet Natoma, Capt. Jim Lee, leaves to-day at 5 p.m. for Napoleon and all way landings. She connects with the Arkansas river packets, and is one of the most prompt packets in any trade. Fields, Whitehead and Lee are her secretaries.

The Independent Line Ark, with John Elliott on the roof, Joe Elliott in the office and Matt Glass at the foot of the stairs, leaves to-morrow for Jacksonport and all way points.

The U. S. mail packet Liberty, Capt. Jim Rice, will back out to-morrow for all points on White river, connecting with the train at Devall's Bluff. Milt Harry and Charley Sharpe are clerks.

The Legal Tender also passed up yesterday. Like the Louisiana, she landed her passengers without tying a line, and paid no wharfage.

The H. M. Shreve, Capt. Carter, with Mr. Henry Woolsam in the office, passes down for Vicksburg to-day at 5 p.m. She is a No. 1 packet, and makes all way landings.

The elegant passenger packet Belle Memphis, Capt. Crane, with Billy Bleuker in the office, leaves for Cairo and St. Louis this evening. She is one of the finest passenger steamers on the river.

The Shark and barges passed up yesterday.

The Darling will back out to-morrow for Cincinnati. She is commanded by Capt. Lew Cates, one of the most popular officers coming to this port. Mr. Power is chief clerk of the Darling.

The Mississippi came off the docks at St. Louis on saturday, and leaves for this port to-morrow.

The Olive Branch left St. Louis for New Orleans yesterday morning.

Opposition in the Upper Mississippi trade, grows interesting. The White Collar line, however, is the favorite with travelers and shippers. Capt. Abe Hutchinson knows how to win in such a contest.

The Steamboatmen's Seymour Club will meet at their hall this evening.

The Lady Gay will pass down to-day for New Orleans, Capt. John H. Burke is master. The Gay is on her first trip in the Cairo and New Orleans trade.

The Tahlequah, on her last trip to New Orleans had 700 bales new cotton.

The Tahlequah has been chartered for the New Orleans and Ouachita trade.

The Clifton left Cincinnati for this port Saturday.

The Welcome goes into the Ouachita trade.

The wrecked J. P. Webb is owned at Vicksburg, and is not insured.

It is a fact that Memphis charges more wharfage than St. Louis by 25c per ton. The Memphis and St. Louis Packet Company is required to pay nearly $100 per week more at this point than at St. Louis. But this is a city while the other is but a small village. The Louisville Journal says on the subject: "All the boats are giving Memphis the go-by, on account of the uniform wharfage being exacted there from transient steamers. The Peoria City, which passed that city on Wednesday last, having heard of the uniform wharfage affair, would not stop, but sent her passengers ashore in a yawl. This is one of the many beauties of Radical rule."

How do our City Fathers like that last line? Acting Attorney General Ashton is busily engaged in preparing opinion on the question referred to him by the secretary of war as to the right of owners of steamboats impressed into the service during the war and lost in the rebel States, to receive compensation from the Quartermaster General therefor.

Capt. John Jenks, an old steamboatman, died at Mobile on the 15th, up to the time of his illness Capt. Jenks was clerk on the steamer Prairie State, on which coal and the Cherokee he had served since the war. Previous to the war he was attached to the New Orleans Mail Line, but upon the breaking out of hostilities he promptly took the field, and gallantly and faithfully performed his duty, serving first as lieutenant and afterwards as captain of a field battery.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

FINANCE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, }
MEMPHIS, September 18, 1868. }

Our bankers report this as a dull day, in all respects. Money is comparatively easy, and all legitimate short time paper is taken at the usual rates.

Exchange was not so freely offered to-day, although our banks are all abundantly supplied. Cotton bills are taken at ½c discount, and mercantile bills on all points North and West at par. Selling at ¼@¾c premium on the East, and all other Northern and Western cities at ¾c premium.

City Bonds are quiet. Several lots are held at 50c, and some offerings were reported during the day at 49½c, but we could learn of no sales.

There are orders on the market for Mississippi and Tennessee bonds and stocks, but other railroad securities are not in much demand.

City Scrip is firm. Dealers buy at 71@74c. Selling at 76@78c.

County Warrants, in small sums, are in demand, but large Warrants are not taken by brokers, as there is very little call for large pieces. Where sums suit, they are taken at 54@55c. Selling at 55@56c.

Police Scrip is in active demand, as taxes are falling due. Dealers buy at 80@82c. Selling at 85@90c.

The New York Stock Board quotations were at noon to-day as follows: Old Tennessee bonds, 69½; new, 69¾. New York Central, 131½. Erie, 46¾.

Gold, in New York, opened at 144½c and closed at 144¾c. Outside a few small lots, we could hear of no sales. Dealers buy at 142@142½c. Selling at 143@143½c.

Many of the statements put forth by Radical politicians relative to the amounts of the national debt, and the ordinary expenditures of the Government, display the very sublimity of impudence. Although they must know that detection is certain, they continue to promulgate them as irrefutable truths, trusting that they may pass current until after the election, or that some may read and credit their statements, owing to the fact that they never see the contradiction. We are glad, therefore, that the New York Journal of Commerce has condescended to notice one of these "good enough Morgans" in a crushing manner, and to present an array of figures, derived from Republican sources, which furnish a complete refutation of its statements. Senator Trumbull might find better use for his frank than the circulation of falsehoods:

Under frank of Senator Trumbull, of Illinois, we have received for notice a copy of a campaign document purporting to give the "financial issues of the campaign." It is so full of misstatements, some sheer inventions, and other gross misrepresentations, that it seems hardly worth while to attempt a refutation in detail. It opens with a statement that "the public expenditures under Mr. Buchanan's administration for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1860, were $77,468,102 72 in gold." This is true in one sense, but it conveys a very erroneous impression. There fell into the Treasury $19,385,200 00 in Treasury notes, of which over fourteen millions were paid off in the course of the year. The total disbursements were as follows:

Foreign intercourse	1,163,207 15
War Department	16,408,767 10
Navy Department	11,514,180 19
Interior Department	8,955,688 19
Miscellaneous	20,653,007 92
Principal, etc., public debt	17,618 893 38
Total disbursements	$77,462,312 72

The miscellaneous included between eight and nine millions to make up a deficiency in the postoffice revenue, but the total for the public debt, most of it to pay principal, was about one-fourth of the whole sum. The document adds in the next line: "Howell Cobb, then Secretary of the Treasury, in the same report which these figures were taken, estimated the expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1861, at $84,348,999 75. This estimate was based upon a condition of peace, and included about three millions of dollars for interest on the public debt." Here the writer acknowledges that he had the official report before him, and he actually pretends to take from it a supposed estimate for interest, but conceals the fact that $20,624,800 was included to pay off a former loan, and was in no proper sense a part of the year's estimate of expenditures. The whole of the cost of the government for that year was estimated at $63,676,799 17, of which one-quarter's outlay was actually incurred when the estimate was compiled.

This is a fair specimen of the way the whole pamphlet of twenty pages is made up for political effect. We have not noticed it, however, necessary to expose a partisan falsehood, nor even because it contains an article quoted approvingly from our columns on the question of greenback payment (which we regret to see in such bad company), but because we do not wish the people to become accustomed to the idea that the present extravagant outlays for carrying on the administration of national affairs bear any reasonable relation to the expenditures in wiser times for the same purpose. The totals of "ordinary expenses," which include everything but debt and loans, are thus given in the official report issued at Washington under the highest Republican authority, and we commend this statement to the compilers of the No. 4 Document, and hope it will be in season for their next issue:

Years ending June 30.	From Official Records.
1851	44,649 949 48

COTTON.

Cotton was quiet in Liverpool to-day at the opening, with Uplands, 10½d; Orleans, 10¾d; and was unchanged throughout.

The New York market, at the opening, was quiet but firm—Uplands, 28½c—and closed quiet, but steady, at unchanged quotations. Sales of 1150 bales Uplands, for December delivery, at 23c. Week's sales or stock on hand not given.

In this market there was a fair inquiry, notwithstanding it was the last day of the week. The following sales were reported: 1 bale Ordinary, 22c; 1 do. Good Ordinary, 23½c; 2 do. 23c; 1 do. 22½c; 3 do. 24c; 9 bales Low Middlings, 25½c; 4 do. 24c; 5 do. 23c; 14 do. 23½c; 2 bales Middlings, 24c; 4 do. 25½c; 4 do. 24½c; 4 do. 24c. We look for more activity during the coming week, if prices continue steady, as several Eastern buyers, who have recently returned from their summer tour, will commence operations.

By a private letter, we learn that the cotton crop of the Yazoo and Tallahatchie river valley is suffering very severely from the ravages of the worm. The writer, who dated his letter from Waterfront, Miss., September 16th, says that it will be impossible to make over a half crop.

TRADE.

Saturday, which is usually a busy day with us, was rather dull yesterday, or, rather, many of our merchants complained of having little to do, while others appeared to have their hands full. Trade was brisk only in spots. Prices are much the same as previously quoted in all articles. Iron ties are becoming scarce, while rope is not in demand.

We have heard some complaint relative to the rates of freight agreed to, in convention, by the freight agents recently convened in this city. While the agents claim that freights are about 10c per 100 lbs. less than last year, these parties claim that such is not the fact. We will merely refer to the case of one house, which, in a statement made to us, gave the rating as the rates paid by them last year, as to October 12th the house claims to have shipped non-compressed cotton at $1 50 per bale. On October 12th, at $1 70; October 15; November 16th, $1 75. The rates by the different lines, which went into effect October, last year. Just two weeks from the change occurred this season, which follows, on cotton, from Memphis to the following places:

	All Rail. Non Comp.	All Rail. Comp.	Rail and Water. Non Comp.	Rail and Water. Comp.
	Per 100 pounds.		Per 100 pounds.
Providence	$1 95	$1 56	$1 85	$1 48
New York	1 "	"	"	"
Philadelphia	85	1 48	1 75	1 40
Baltimore	1 75	1 40	1 65	1 31
Buffalo	1 65	1 32	1 55	1 24
Fall River	1 20	96	1 10	88
Oliver	2 05	1 63	1 95	1 55

The Convention has adopted the following rates for this year, which took effect September 18th:

	All Rail. Non Comp.	All Rail. Comp.	Rail and Water. Non Comp.	Rail and Water. Comp.
Boston	$1 85	$1 48	$1 75	$1 38
Providence	"	"	"
Fall River	"	"	"
New York	1 75	1 40	1 65	1 30
Philadelphia	1 65	1 32	1 55	1 22
Baltimore	1 55	1 24	1 45	1 14
Buffalo	1 20	96	1 10

It will be seen that rates are lower this year than last, and that many shipments were made last season at better figures than those given above. It was in the shape of rebate, a system bred by the war, in iniquity, and which we have, more than once, denounced as degrading to the merchant and the shipping agent, and a swindle upon the planter and the purchaser.

WOLFE'S
Schiedam Schnapps.
THE above Medicinal Beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at his distillery, in Schiedam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use.

It is now some twenty years since the proprietor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time the American public three thousand letters have received over ing it as the purest liquor physicians, indors- in their practice, nor they have ever used

It is made from barley of the finest quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper-berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process, which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.

As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effect produced upon the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers, new settlers, and all unacclimated persons in the West, the South, and Southwest are peculiarly liable—the SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS will be found absolutely infallible; while in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, stricture, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases, with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac-similie of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.

COTTON GINS
EAGLE COTTON GINS.
WE are the Sole Agents for the sale of these unrivalled Gin Stands. For beauty of STAPLE, LIGHTNESS OF DRAFT, AND QUANTITY OF LINT COTTON turned out per day, they are unsurpassed. Reference can be safely made to every planter who has given them a fair trial. Where mule power is used, they make a saving of from one-quarter to one-third the draft over ANY OTHER GIN. We are also agents for the CELEBRATED GRIST MILLS, and WHEELER, CLEMSON & CO.'S CIRCULAR SAWS.

Pratt's Southern Made Cotton Gin
THIS GIN is regarded by planters who have used it, as the best for sample, picking the seed clean and light draught. Planters cultivating bottom lands are requested to examine the Eureka Gin at Sarring on & Powell's, 268 Front street. It will pay for itself in ginning fifty bales. Mr. Hudson, manufacturer of the Steel Comb Gin before the war but now a planter, gives the following certificate:

"MEMPHIS, TENN., January 6, 1868.

"I take pleasure in recommending to planters cultivating Cotton on bottom lands of the Mississippi, Arkansas, White and St. Francis rivers, the Eureka Gin, made by Dellet, Pratt of Alabama. This Gin separates the lint, bolls, etc., from the Seed Cotton, makes a good sample, and is superior to any other Gin for bottom lands. I have used one myself on a farm in Washington county, Miss., and it operates well and gives entire satisfaction in every respect. A. N. GUNNISON."
